

Provision of Specialist Personnel

Velosi supplies a broad range of recruitment and workforce management solutions. Our global network of offices enables us to provide local services and deliver complete project solutions across the oil, gas, power generation and petrochemical industries. Velosi's reputation for quality within the recruitment industry has enabled us to develop strong relationships with our clients. Our management of the interface between the client, project team, and the work force allows you to concentrate on other more critical areas of the project.

Using our service means you are able to cover your resource needs quickly and efficiently and maintain a highly flexible workforce that will meet the needs of your project. Your requirement, whatever the qualification level, can be covered as Velosi has personnel of all experience levels. Velosi has the knowledge and expertise to supply the right personnel, where required.

Velosi's outsourcing and manpower staff are experienced in identifying clients' needs worldwide. We offer contract recruitment for both long- and short-term projects.
